

Deborah Roberts BA MBA

Deborah Roberts has accumulated over 20 years experience in the field of operations management and business development, working with global corporations. She holds a Bachelor of Arts from the University of North Dakota and an MBA from the University of Wisconsin, USA.

Deborah joined Johnson Controls in 1998 in the USA where she led facilities management operations, before moving to Asia in 2007 as Vice President Facilities Management, Transition and Operational Excellence, Global WorkPlace Solutions.

In her current role Deborah has direct responsibility for the Facility Management Line of Business for Asia, operational excellence and the transition of new accounts. In addition, Deborah has responsibility for a Customer Business Group of key relationships, including clients such as Agilent Technologies, and development globally.

Deborah is an expert in operational excellence, facility operations, and long-term partnering for service and business improvement.

Deborah is based Singapore and is a member of CoreNet Global.